

10,000 Steps

Every step counts.

The 10,000 Steps program aims to increase the day-to-day activity of Australians by encouraging the use of pedometers or activity trackers to accumulate "incidental" physical activity. Significant health and wellbeing benefits can be achieved by moving more every day. 10,000 Steps provides support and motivation to be active via a free, interactive website and resources for workplaces and communities.
